The article “MODY patients carrying mutation in syndromic diabetes genes. An Italian single-center experience” published in Acta Diabetologica in October 2022 included an incomplete acknowledgement section. Below is the updated, correct Acknowledgements section:

New (correct) version of the acknowledgment

We thank both all study patients for allowing us to use the results of genetic testing for scientific purposes and all nurses who were involved in taking care of them. We also thank the following colleagues for providing clinical data and/or genetic counseling and/or for taking care of samples collection of those patients who did not refer directly to our Institution in San Giovanni Rotondo (I).
