In footnote 3, the line “Much of the data addressed in this article was culled as part of a....” has been published with error. The corrected footnote no. 3 has been given below.

Much of the data addressed in this article was culled as part of a larger project investigating not only officials’ attitudes about school rampage threats and the response to them, but knowledge about incidents of school rampage that were planned but ultimately averted (see Madfis 2012).
