The original publication of the article includes an error in Table 4. The scores indicated in the table for third grade were incorrect. This mistake did not affect the overall results of the study. Only in the Discussion section under “Relations of reading fluency to reading comprehension within and across languages,” the percentage of variance explained in English comprehension in third grade needs to be changed from 35% (95% CI: 22–47%) to 37% (95% CI: 24–50%).

The complete and correct version of Table 4 is given below:
