

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT TO REFEREES

© Springer International Publishing Switzerland 2014

Dear Reader

In this the final issue of the American Journal of Clinical Dermatology for 2014, the editors and production staff at Adis would like to take the opportunity to look back on all that has been achieved in the last 12 months and to thank the people who have given their time to ensure we continue to bring you world-class content.

We are pleased to advise you of a number of positive developments involving the Adis journals in 2014. Several of our journals saw healthy gains in the ISI impact factor this year. The biggest gains were made by the American Journal of Clinical Dermatology, which increased 37 % to 2.519; Molecular Diagnosis and Therapy, which leapt 53 % to 2.589; European Journal of Drug Metabolism and Pharmacokinetics, which increased 39 % to 1.312; Targeted Oncology, which increased 25 % to 3.458; and The Patient—Patient-Centered Outcomes Research, which increased 25 % to 1.957. We look forward to building on these gains in 2015.

This year saw the journal portfolio increase in size with the transfer of a number of existing Springer journals into the Adis portfolio, as well as the launch of two new open access titles: Drugs—Real World Outcomes, which targets research involving the use of real-world data to evaluate health outcomes and inform healthcare decision-making, with a particular focus on healthcare-related ‘big data’; and Drug Safety—Case Reports, which publishes reports of any unintended or adverse effects following administration of a medicinal product, as well as cases involving ‘near misses’ or a lack of efficacy.

The first six titles to be commissioned under the Adis Books programme will have been published by year end and we are developing a robust pipeline of new titles, involving top authors from around the globe. We have appreciated the many topical proposals submitted to date.

As another year draws to a close, we would like to say a big thank you to all the authors who have contributed articles to the American Journal of Clinical Dermatology. Without their expertise and hard work we would not have been able to publish the journal. We would like to make special mention of the Guest Editors of our Evidence-Based Therapeutic Update Special Issue in July, Farzam Gorouhi and Howard Maibach, for their valuable contribution in bringing together this excellent collection of articles. The quality of published articles this year also reflects the significant time and effort put in by the peer reviewers, whose dedication ensures that we continue to publish content of the highest possible standard. In addition to the members of our Honorary Editorial Board, we would like to thank the following individuals who acted as reviewers for articles published in the American Journal of Clinical Dermatology in 2014:
