Dear Reader,

As we reach the final issue of PharmacoEconomics for 2019, we wish to reflect on another successful year's achievements, and to thank all those who have contributed their time and effort to guarantee the high quality of our content.

We thank the authors who have contributed articles to the journal over the course of 2019. The skill and dedication of all authors are critical to the continued publication of the journal. The quality of published articles is also testament to the significant efforts of the peer reviewers and our editorial board, whose commitment ensures that the journal's content is held to the highest possible standard. In addition to the editorial board, we would like to thank the following individuals who acted as reviewers for PharmacoEconomics in the last 12 months:

We do hope that you have found the articles published throughout the year in PharmacoEconomics to be interesting and informative. We have published a couple of very interesting themed issues this year focussing on family spillover effects of illness and transparency in decision models. Our thanks go to the guest editors of these themed issues for all their hard work (Lisa Prosser, Eve Wittenberg, J Jaime Caro and Paul Tappenden). The editorial schedule for 2020 is well under way. We are looking forward to bringing you many high-quality and authoritative articles over the coming year, including further themed issues.

With best wishes,
Christopher Carswell and Timothy Wrightson
Co-Editors in Chief
