

ERRATUM

In Vol. 53, No. 2, 1990, on p. 850, in the third paragraph from the bottom, the first sentence should be replaced by the following: "To observe negative luminescence the relative temperatures of the photoconductor and sample can, in principle, be arbitrary."