ERRATUM

Emeritus Professors:

Correlates of Professional Activity in Retirement II, by Lorraine T. Dorfman, Vol. 14, No. 2 (1981)

Reanalysis of data for a cross-national comparison revealed a computer error. In the article, it was concluded that rated importance of "research or other creative work" during the career prior to retirement was significantly related to level of professional activity in retirement only for the set of emeriti who continued to live in their preretirement community. Reanalysis showed that this relationship held also for the set of emeriti who left their community after retiring. This does not affect the finding that significantly more "stayers" than "leavers" continued to do research or other creative work in retirement or that significantly more "stayers" published articles in retirement.
