The majority of them, 245, found the first topic, "Three Epoch-Making Changes in the History of Literatures in the European Languages", the most attractive. One hundred and four scholars wished to speak on the third subject, "Comparative Literature and Theory of Literature". Only fifty-one would-be participants offered to lecture on the second topic, "Inter-Cultural Literary Relations in the Twentieth Century", probably because this was the first time that it appeared on the congressional programme.

Although the Congress is still more than a year off, the Screening Committees appointed by the ICLA leadership will soon start working on its thematical programme. In spite of the limited duration of the Congress, and of each of its working days, we hope to be able to find a solution which will both permit the greatest number of papers, and give the broadest scope for discussion.

Toward the end of the year 1975, the second circular will be prepared and sent out to the prospective participants, as well as to those interested in the Congress.

Erratum

Concerning the caption to Alfred Kubin's "Gampspirch" (Chamois Hunting), fig. 13 in the study of Claude Gandelman (Vol. II. Nos. 3-4, p. 272). The expression "a filiform group" constitutes the author's own comment on the picture and is not a title or subtitle of the drawing. Therefore, the word "From:" ought to have been deleted. The Eds.
