NOTES AND NEWS

Professor Alan Gewirth, of the University of Chicago, was the 1986 Bar-Hillel lecturer. His lectures — “Ethical Universalism and Particularism” and “The Rational Justification of Morality” — were delivered under the auspices of the Israel Academy of Sciences and Humanities, The Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Tel-Aviv University and The Van Leer Jerusalem Institute.

Previous lecturers were: Professors H. Putman, P.T. Geach, J. Moravcsik, L. Linsky, R. Popkin, S. Körner, R. Rorty, D. Armstrong, D. Pears and S. Kripke.

Philosophers who intend to visit Israel and would like to read papers (in English or Hebrew) to philosophers, students or the general public are invited to contact the Israel Philosophical Association. Details of the visit and the requests should be sent to Professor Asa Kasher, President, Israel Philosophical Association, Department of Philosophy, Tel-Aviv University, Tel-Aviv 69978, Israel.

CORRIGENDA

Robert A. Larmer: Free Will, Hegemony and Neurophysiological Indeterminism, Philosophia 16:2 (1986), 177-189.

We apologize for the appearance of some typographical errors in the paper, the most serious ones being,

On p. 177, line 26, “ontoloty” instead of “Ontology”, and on p. 181, line 29, “explandanda” instead of “explananda”.

Crawford L. Elder: Why the Attacks on the Way the World Is Entail There Is a Way the World Is, Philosophia 16:2 (1986), 191-202.

The first three lines of p. 200 should read:

Perhaps an irrealist could after all claim that “term” determinately refers to terms — relative to all L*’s and M’s having anything to say about how “term” refers at all! But such an Michael Martin: Corporatism, Philosophia 16:3-4 (1986), 275-291.

We apologize for having made the following mistakes:

P. 281 should replace p. 280 and vice versa,
and p. 282 should replace p. 283 and vice versa.

Donald E. Stahl: Abstract Universes and Quantifying In, Philosophia 16:3-4 (1968), 333-344.

We apologize for the appearance of some typographical errors in the paper, the most serious ones being,

On p. 335, line 6, a diamond missing between the period and f, on p. 335, line 13, a period followed by a diamond missing before the forth left parenthesis, on p. 335 (5.) should read $\lceil \Phi = \Psi. \Diamond \Phi \neq \Psi \rceil$ on p. 335, last line but one, corners should replace brackets, on p. 336, line 12, “between, and” should be deleted, on p. 336, line 18, the diamond should be replaced by a section symbol,

on p. 336, last line but four,¹¹ should replace”, on p. 337, line 7, the universal quantified x should be replaced by an existential one, on p. 339, line 26, (35) should read $A = (\exists x) [p. x = A]$ on p. 343, note 20, line 13, the second name should read “McKay”, and on p. 343, note 21, line 3, a comma is missing after “Information”.
