YOU SAID FASTER?

In a recent issue of the Journal, I underlined the new coordination procedure introduced for the direct benefit of our authors.

For the first time, the authors reacted faster than the Board of Editors, in charge of preparing an editorial for each issue of Materials and Structures.

This gives me the opportunity of presenting you Ms. Pascale Callec (right side of the photo) who is already known by each of you having at least once visited our Web site, and Ms. Alexandra Lebeslourd (I let you discover her place on the photo).

It is today my pleasure to offer you their smile, always kept even in the most critical steps of the production process of Materials and Structures .

Michel Brusin, Director of Publication