The authors wish to correct an error in the manuscript “Trapping cells on a stretchable microwell array for single-cell analysis” published in Analytical and Bioanalytical Chemistry (2012) 402:1065–1072. In the article it was stated that the LiveCell Array™ was a product of the NUNC Company and that it was no longer commercially available. We have since learned that the LiveCell Array™ is produced by Molecular Cytomics, Inc. and can now be purchased through their website and other distributors.
