To the Editors: As a sequel of sorts to my first mathematical biography, on the geometer Donald Coxeter (King of Infinite Space), I have taken up the Boswellian job of writing a biography of John Horton Conway (Authorized! Or, at least, Semi-authorized!). To that end, I am in search of all manner of Conway stories, anecdotes, lore, rumors, facts, fictions, and defamations which anyone in the mathematical community (and beyond) would be willing to share — for attribution, or not for attribution. Information from all eras is welcome, with a special interest in the period from 1986 onward when Conway landed at Princeton. The biography is to be published by Bloomsbury/Walker circa 2013. Final deadline for Conway data: March 2012, though ASAP is preferable.
