Message from the Editor-in-Chief

O. Ortmann

Published online: 2 August 2013
© Springer-Verlag Berlin Heidelberg 2013

In this issue, the reader will find the new structure of the editorial board. Dedicated scientists have been found for the different sections, their work as associate editors will have major impact for further success of the journal. All of them have international reputation and are contributors to the current scientific progress in their field.

In addition, the editorial board includes a large number of scientists who worked successfully for Archives of Gynaecology and Obstetrics for many years. New members appear on the board who will improve and professionalize the review process. The editor-in-chief works closely with two coordinating editors. Their aim is to acquire high quality scientific papers and guarantee fast track review.

Finally, the editorial board is a lively team which will and has to change from time to time.

We all are confident that our work will contribute to the improvement of quality and higher reputation of the journal.

Conflict of interest None.

O. Ortmann (✉)
Department of Gynaecology and Obstetrics,
Caritas-Hospital St. Josef, University of Regensburg, Landshuter Straße 65, 93053 Regensburg, Germany
e-mail: olaf.ortmann@klinik.uni-regensburg.de