Just the Facts: Historical Corrective to Malón (2011)

John H. Gagnon

Published online: 18 August 2011
© Springer Science+Business Media, LLC 2011

In the article by Malón (2011), entitled “The ‘Participating Victim’ in the Study of Erotic Experiences Between Children and Adults: An Historical Analysis,” I was identified as one of Kinsey’s collaborators (p. 170). While I analyzed data Kinsey and his associates had previously gathered, I was not a working collaborator with Kinsey himself. I joined the staff of the Institute for Sex Research in August 1959, some three years after Kinsey’s death. This correction is not aimed at detracting from the valuable and thoughtful article by Malón, but merely to set the historical record straight.

Reference

Malón, A. (2011). The “participating victim” in the study of erotic experiences between children and adults: An historical analysis. Archives of Sexual Behavior, 40, 169–188.

J. H. Gagnon
Department of Sociology, The State University,
Stony Brook, NY, USA

J. H. Gagnon (✉)
122 Boulevard Carnot, Residence Eden Beach C-2, 06300 Nice, France
e-mail: jhgagnon@gmail.com