To the article

“Coherent Fluctuation Nephelometry: A Rapid Method for Urine Screening for Bacterial Contamination,”

by A. S. Gur’ev, A. Yu. Volkov, I. I. Dolgushin, A. V. Pospelova, S. F. Rastopov, A. Yu. Savochkina, and V. I. Sergienko,

Vol. 159, No. 1, pp. 107-110, May, 2015

On page 107, in the 18th line of the first column, the term “optical nephelometry” should be replaced with “nephelometry.”

On page 107, in the 6th line of the second column, “stringent limitations for the number of cuvettes” should be replaced with “stringent requirements on the quality of cuvettes.”

On page 107, in the 15th line of the second column, “The work of CFN instrument” should be replaced with “The functioning of CFN instrument.”

On page 108, in the 12th line of the second column, “at least 2 h before” should be replaced with “not more than 2 h prior to.”