Editor's note October, 2013

Johan H. C. Reiber

Published online: 23 October 2013
© Springer Science+Business Media Dordrecht 2013

Dear Reader,

The official affiliation of the Asian Society of Cardiovascular Imaging (ASCI) with our Journal dates back to July 2011 and since then Prof. Yeon Hyeon Choe, MD has been the Adjunct editor for ASCI. He has been working on this collaboration in a very constructive manner since 2006/2007. Now, after so many years of friendly collaboration he has decided to accept the position of Editor-in-chief of the Korean Journal of Radiology as of October 11, 2013. We congratulate him with this new position and that also means that he will be stepping down as Adjunct editor for our Journal. Taking his place will be Prof. Tae Hoon

Kim of Yonsei University Gangnam Severance Hospital, Seoul, who is currently also serving as the secretary of the ASCI administration office, and is co-organizer of the ASCI-2014 meeting in Jeju, Korea. We wish to welcome Prof. Kim as the next Adjunct editor for ASCI.

I would like to end by thanking Prof. Choe again for his great contributions over these past years, wish him much success with the Korean Journal of Radiology and am sure that we will continue to see each other frequently.

Sincerely,
Johan H.C. Reiber, PhD
Editor-in-chief

J. H. C. Reiber (✉)
Leiden, The Netherlands
e-mail: HReiber@medis.nl