“Maximising the World’s Potential through Guidance”

What is IAEVG?

The International Association for Educational and Vocational Guidance (IAEVG) is the worldwide counsellors’ association and represents individuals as well as national and regional associations concerned with educational and vocational guidance on all continents.

The mission of IAEVG

The aims of educational and vocational guidance are to assist students and adults in making their personal decisions about learning and work. This is achieved by helping people to:

- understand and appreciate their skills and abilities
- relate effectively with others
- explore career alternatives
- develop appropriate plans for educational and career management

- promote better vocational qualifications at all levels
- contribute to equal access for girls and women in education and work
- integrate successfully in society and the labour market

The objectives of the Association are:

- to promote and improve communication between people and organizations active in educational and vocational guidance
- to encourage the continuing professional development of ideas, practice and research in the field of guidance and counselling
- to collect and disseminate information on the latest educational and vocational guidance practice, study and research

Conferences

IAEVG, Gothenberg, Sweden

October 2-4, 2018

“A Need for Change”

The conference is jointly organized with the Swedish Association of Guidance Counsellors, in association with the City of Gothenburg Career Guidance Centre.

The meeting will take place over three days and will offer key note addresses and expert panels, several international symposia, poster presentations and workshops. The goals of the meeting are to analyze and discuss the approaches and contributions of Educational and Vocational Guidance, public and institutional policies and their relationship with current demands in today’s world; to discuss the challenges that affect daily life and the educational and professional trajectories of young people; and to promote the construction of new strategies and interventions across different levels of education that will prepare the new generations for social change and transformation with a sense of responsibility and ethical commitment.

This international conference, like those preceding it, demonstrates the vitality, dynamism and initiative that prevail in IAEVG. In addition to the scientific program, there are opportunities to network and share experiences with colleagues from around the world.

This year’s conference theme, “a need for change” will focus on five areas:

- I. A need for change in delivery and/or access to career guidance and counselling
What is needed to make the Lifelong Guidance a reality for everyone?
- II. A need for change in the training of career guidance professionals
The needs for delivery of Lifelong Guidance in a multicultural society
- III. New theories, models and strategies in career guidance and counselling for migrants and refugees
The society is becoming more and more multicultural but still most of our theories and models are based in a western context. What changes do we need for the future?
- IV. The role of ICT and social media in career guidance and counselling
Especially young people live their lives on social media today – but where do the career guidance and counselling take place?
- V. Career guidance and counselling and the ever-changing labour market and access to work
We are supporting young people preparing for occupations and a labour market that still does not exist. At the same time, the working population should be prepared for a changing working life.

Abstract submissions: Closed March 31, 2018
