Dear Colleagues,

This issue is a special issue on Articulated Mobile Robots (AMR). However, all submitted papers have been reviewed twice by external reviewers and the guest editors.

With respect to the overall ‘health’ of JINT, we are in a very good shape, submissions are up, quality of submitted papers is better than before, and we strongly believe that things will be even better in the future.

We care about your perspective and points of view, therefore, as always, we welcome your opinion and feedback.

Enjoy the special issue.
