The Performance Scales© is a copyrighted work of DeltaQuest Foundation, Inc. that can only be used, amended, adapted, translated, made into a derivative work or published with the explicit permission of and license from DeltaQuest Foundation, Inc. Further, the “Performance Scales© (PS)” has been incorrectly referred to as the “performance scales” or “MS-related fatigue, cognitive, mobility and hand function domains with six ordinal responses” throughout the paper. Additionally, the article referenced the original validation paper second rather than first, leading to some confusion as to the authorship of the original validation study which should be Schwartz, C.E., Vollmer, T., and Lee, H. (1999), Reliability and validity of two self-report measures of impairment and disability for MS. Neurology, 52, 63–70, and of the copyrighted work.
