The authors would like to apologize for an error in Graph 2 and in the description of Graph 2. The graph incorrectly depicts a weight of 1 in the path between self-employment and meritocracy, as well as between unemployed and egalitarianism. The graph is incorrect because no such weights were used in the analysis published here. The correct graph is reproduced below.

In addition, we apologize that a comment by one of the co-authors about the above error was inadvertently published. The sentence beginning with “If you want to use this version of the diagram...” is a message between the co-authors that should not have been published.

Lastly, in the abstract, the phrase “In order words” should read “In other words.”
