RETRACTED ARTICLE: An integrated approach for characterization of heavy metal contamination in lake sediments in India

Manohar Kata · G. V. Ramana

Received: 4 September 2013 / Accepted: 26 November 2013 / Published online: 18 December 2013
© Saudi Society for Geosciences 2014

A careful analysis of the paper entitled “An integrated approach for characterization of heavy metal contamination in lake sediments from northwestern part of Hyderabad, India” published online on December 18th 2013 has led me to the conclusion that this contribution was essentially similar to the work carried out and funded by the CSIR-National Geophysical Research Institute (NGRI) and hence, are the property of the NGRI. Therefore, I retract this article.

Abdullah Al-Amri
Editor-in-Chief

A careful analysis of the paper entitled “An integrated approach for characterization of heavy metal contamination in lake sediments from northwestern part of Hyderabad, India” published online on December 18th 2013 has led me to the conclusion that this contribution was essentially similar to the work carried out and funded by the CSIR-National Geophysical Research Institute (NGRI) and hence, are the property of the NGRI. Therefore, I retract this article.

Abdullah Al-Amri
Editor-in-Chief

M. Kata (✉)
CSIR-Environmental Geochemistry Division, National Geophysical Research Institute, Uppal Road, Hyderabad 500007, Andhra Pradesh, India
e-mail: chemistry_manohar@yahoo.co.in

M. Kata · G. V. Ramana
Department of Chemistry, Andhra Loyola College, Vijayawada, Andhra Pradesh, India