The authors would like to correct the errors in the publication of the original article. The corrected details are given below for your reading.

The last sentence in the second paragraph in page 1 should read as “Unfortunately the patient died in the follow-up”.

Secondly, the last sentence in the third paragraph should read as “Our case is very rare because it describes the diastolic collapse of the left atrium and the left ventricle in a patient with severe pulmonary hypertension and pericardial effusion (Supplementary video 1 and video 2) in whom the pericardiocentesis initially improved her hemodynamics.”
