In the original publication, Sect. 5, paragraph 1 was incorrectly published.

The Sect. 5, paragraph 1, lines 7–12 which previously read:

“Lower scores on the Dermatology Life Quality Index (DLQI), a questionnaire that measures the impact of dermatologic conditions on QOL, are consistently observed in black and Hispanic individuals compared with white individuals, even when controlling for body surface area affected and severity of disease [110]”.

Should read:

“Higher scores on the Dermatology Life Quality Index (DLQI), a questionnaire that measures the impact of dermatologic conditions on QOL, are consistently observed in black and Hispanic individuals compared with white individuals, even when controlling for body surface area affected and severity of disease [110]”.
