Welcome to the supplement issue of Medical Science Educator dedicated to the 19th Annual Meeting of the International Association of Medical Science Educators held in San Diego, CA, USA, from June 13–16, 2015. As per tradition, we present in this supplement all the abstracts of the posters that were presented at the meeting. I am also honored to present to you the contributions of three of the keynote speakers at this conference. Dr Leslie Fall addresses the collaborative construction of the clinical mind, Dr Deirdre Bonnycastle explains why reading your PowerPoint isn't teaching, and Dr Paul Worley takes us with him crossing the bridges from the education campus island to the community.

I believe that this journal issue is important to review for not only the meeting attendees but also for those readers who were unable to attend the meeting. I hope this issue of Medical Science Educator will give you a nice overview of the work presented at the IAMSE meeting in San Diego and make you consider visiting the 2016 IAMSE meeting in Leiden, The Netherlands.
