James Clayton Overseas Conference Travel for Senior Engineers

Subjects: Mechanical engineering.

Purpose: To assist members of the Institution who have been invited to contribute in some way to a conference or who could be expected to make a significant contribution to the aims of a conference by their attendance.

Eligibility: Open to IMechE members over the age of 40 years.

Level of Study: Professional development

Type: Travel grant

Value: Up to UK£1,000

Country of Study: Any country

No. of awards offered: Varies

Application Procedure: Applicants must submit a completed application form with 3 references.

Closing Date: Applications can be made throughout the year using the online application form

Funding: Private

Additional Information: A report is required 3 months after the conference. Please see the website for details.

James Clayton Prize

Subjects: Modern engineering science.

Purpose: To enable the recipient to pursue advanced postgraduate studies or programmes of research.

Eligibility: The award is open to IMechE members of all grades.

Level of Study: Postgraduate

Type: Grant

Value: Up to £10,000 plus certificate

Frequency: Annual

Study Establishment: An approved centre

Country of Study: United Kingdom

The International Agency for Research on Cancer (IARC) is part of the World Health Organization. IARC's mission is to co-ordinate and conduct research into the causes of human cancer and the disease's mechanisms and to develop scientific strategies for cancer control.

The Agency is involved in both epidemiological and laboratory research and disseminates scientific information through publications, meetings, courses and fellowships.

IARC Postdoctoral Fellowships for Training in Cancer Research

Subjects: Epidemiology (including genetic and molecular), biostatistics, bioinformatics, and areas related to mechanisms of carcinogenesis including molecular and cell biology, molecular genetics, epigenetics, and molecular pathology. There is an emphasis on interdisciplinary projects.

Purpose: To provide training in cancer research to junior scientists from any country. However applications from candidates from low- and medium-resource countries or from applicants from any parts of the world but with projects related to low- and medium-resource countries are encouraged.

Eligibility: Applicants are eligible from any country. Candidates should have finished their doctoral degree (PhD) within 5 years of the closing date for application. The working languages at IARC are English and French. Candidates must be proficient in English at a level sufficient for scientific communication. Candidates are encouraged to contact the host group of their choice at IARC before application in order to establish a proposed programme of mutual interest. Candidates currently working as IARC-funded postdoctoral scientists, or candidates who have worked at the Agency as a postdoc for a period greater than 6 months cannot be considered.

Level of Study: Postdoctorate

Type: Fellowship

Value: Travel for the Fellow and for dependents if accompanying the Fellow for at least 8 months; an annual stipend of approx. €33,000, an annual family allowance of €310 for spouses and €350 for each child; and health insurance covered

Length of Study: 2 years, the 2nd year being subject to satisfactory appraisal

Frequency: Annual

Study Establishment: IARC in Lyon, France

Country of Study: France

No. of awards offered: Approx. 8–10

Application Procedure: Applicants must complete and submit an application form online.

Closing Date: November 30th

Contributor: IARC regular budget

No. of awards given last year: 11

No. of applicants last year: 98

Additional Information: It is anticipated that with widened experience gained from working at the Agency, the fellows will return to their home institute, able to make an increasing contribution to cancer research. As an international Agency with an interest in capacity building in LMICs, an important selection criterion is return home, especially with regard to candidates from LMICs: additional points will therefore be granted to applications from LMIC candidates who are likely to return to their country of origin.

Closing Date: January 30th

Funding: Corporation

Contributor: International Anesthesia Research Society

No. of applicants last year: 13–15

Additional Information: If you have questions regarding the Frontiers Award, contact the IARS awards department at awards@iars.org.

IARS Mentored Research Awards

Subjects: Anesthesiology and related sciences.

Purpose: To support investigations that will further the understanding of clinical practice in anesthesiology and related sciences. The grants are intended to help create future leaders and prepare applicants to apply for independent research funding.

Eligibility: Applicant must be members of the International Anesthesia Research Society (IARS) and investigators who have yet to establish substantial funding.

Type: Research award

Value: Up to four research projects will be selected annually, with each award to receive a maximum of $150,000, payable over 2 years

Length of Study: 2 years

Frequency: Annual

Study Establishment: International Anesthesia Research Society

No. of awards offered: Up to 4

Application Procedure: Candidates should present a clear research plan, propose work that is pertinent to anesthesiology, and have both a senior mentor and an appointment in a successful Principal Investigator's group.

Closing Date: January 30th

The mission of the International Astronomical Union (IAU), founded in 1919, is to promote and safeguard the science of astronomy in all its aspects through international co-operation. The IAU, through its 12 scientific divisions and 40 commissions covering the full spectrum of astronomy, continues to play a key role in promoting and co-ordinating worldwide co-operation in astronomy.

IAU Grants

Subjects: Astronomy and astrophysics.

Purpose: To provide funds to qualified individuals to enable them to visit institutions abroad. It is intended that the visitors have ample time and opportunity to interact with the intellectual life of the host institution. It is a specific objective of the programme that astronomy in the home country is enriched after the applicant returns.

Eligibility: Open to faculty members, staff members, postdoctoral Fellows or graduate students at any recognized educational or research institution.

Level of Study: Graduate, Postdoctorate, Postgraduate, Research

Value: One return economy fare between home and host institutions

Length of Study: At least 3 months at a single host institution

Country of Study: Any country

No. of awards offered: 12–15 per year

Application Procedure: Applicants must submit an application including a curriculum vitae, a plan of scientific activity, letters of support from the home and host institutions, information on responsibility for subsistence at the host institution, and information on the lowest available fare. Applications should be submitted in time for the Officers of the Commission to consult by post.

The International Centre for Physical Land Resources has a long-standing tradition in academic formation and training in physical land resources, including soil science, soil survey, land evaluation, agricultural applications and erosion, e.g. dryland and desertification. Since 1997, the scope of the courses has been widened with courses on the non-agricultural use and application of physical land resources. Students can major in either soil science or land resources engineering. Teaching is provided by lecturers of the University of Ghent and of the Free University of Brussels (VUB).

Master Studies in Physical Land Resources Scholarship

Subjects: Fundamental soil science, soil genesis, prospectation and classification, non-agricultural use and applications of land and soils, geotechnical engineering, soil mechanics and hydrogeology, management of physical and land resources, agricultural applications, soil fertility, soil erosion and conservation or land evaluation.

Purpose: To provide MSc training opportunities to nationals from developing countries.

Eligibility: Open to nationals of the developing world or non-European Union members.

Level of Study: Master

Type: Scholarship

Value: €1,200 per month

Length of Study: 2 years

Frequency: Annual

Study Establishment: Ghent University

Country of Study: Belgium

No. of awards offered: Approx. 2

Application Procedure: Applicants must complete an application form and submit this with certified diplomas and transcripts to the Programme Secretariat to obtain academic admission.

Closing Date: March 1st (check the website)

Funding: Government, private

Young Scientists Summer Program (YSSP)

Subjects: To talented young researchers whose interests correspond with IIASA's ongoing research on issues of global environmental, economic and social change.
Purpose: IIASA's annual 3-month YSSP offers research opportunities to talented young researchers whose interests correspond with IIASA's ongoing research on issues of global environmental, economic and social change. From June through August accepted participants work within the Institute's research programs under the guidance of IIASA scientific staff.
Eligibility: Candidates should have research experience corresponding to a level typical of a researcher about 2 years prior to receiving a PhD or equivalent degree. Candidates already holding a PhD degree (by January 13th) are asked to consider applying to IIASA's postdoc program. Candidates should have a summer research proposal that clearly fits the research agenda of a selected IIASA; ability to work independently as well as interact with other scientists; fluency in English and ability to communicate in a scientific environment; willingness to actively participate in a broad range of interdisciplinary scientific activities at IIASA.
Level of Study: Research
Value: Most of IIASA's National Member Organizations (NMO) provide special grants to enable young scientists (either their own nationals or foreign students studying in their country) to participate in the YSSP. IIASA does not charge a tuition fee. Travel expenses from and to the home institution are usually covered by the NMOs in addition to the local costs covered by the grant. Students usually require a total sum of around €5,000–5,500 on average to cover all the living and travel expenses related to their YSSP participation
Length of Study: 3 months
Country of Study: Austria
No. of awards offered: 50–55
Application Procedure: The mode of applying is online.
Closing Date: January 12th
Additional Information: YSSP participants must have valid medical insurance for their stay in Austria and should bring their insurance cards or certificates with them. Candidates will be informed about acceptance of their applications by March 10th.
