

employed to watch our rivers. It will give them details of methods without their having to go to the primary literature, and it will guide them in their choice of method for the particular task in hand.

H. B. N. Hynes

ANNOUNCEMENT

Swets Publishing Service, of Amsterdam and Lisse, The Netherlands announces its intention to start a new journal in the first quarter of 1979, named: Aquatic Insects, International Journal of Freshwater Entomology.

This journal intends to keep the students of limnetic entomology closer together and to fill in a gap in information, as well as to advance research of aquatic insects. Wellknown specialists—among them Drs Hynes, Zwick and Flint—forming the editorial board, stand for quality and aim of the new periodical. Prof. Dr J. Illies, of Schlitz, W. Germany will act as editor-in-chief.

Subscription—on a calendar year basis only—can be placed via a Subscription Agent, or direct with the Publisher: Post Box 825, 2160 sz LISSE, The Netherlands, at a rate of DF 93.50 ($ 45.60) per volume for individuals and DF 128.50 ($ 62.75) for all others.