

Erratum

Use of punctuation for pausing: Oral readings by German radio homilists

Daniel C. O'Connell^{1,*} and Sabine H. Kowal²

¹ Loyola University of Chicago, 6525 North Sheridan Road, Chicago, IL 60626, USA

² Technische Universität Berlin, Straße des 17. Juni 135, D-1000 Berlin 12

Psychol Res (1986) 48:93–98

Table 1 on page 94 was reproduced incorrectly. Every line in the table should begin with a period, which indicates that, according to all authors quoted, the period should receive the longest relative pause duration. The correct form of the table is given below:

Table 1. Sample hypotheses regarding relative duration of pauses at various types of punctuation and at unpunctuated between-word positions (null)

Durational hypothesis	Source	Language
. & :	> ; > ,	Jonson (1692) ^a	English
.	> ; > ,	Johnson (1755) ^b	English
. > :	> ; > ,	Diderot (1772) ^c	French
. & - >	? & ! > ; > , > null	Mátray (1861) ^d	Hungarian
.	> : & ; > ,	Passy (1906)	French
. & ;	> ; & , > null	Zwirner & Zwirner (1937)	German
. & ? > ;	> ; > , > null	Hegedüs (1953)	Hungarian
. & ;	> , > null	Dillon (1976)	English

^a Cited in Ong (1944, p. 356)

^b Cited in Honan (1960, p. 94)

^c Cited in Védénina (1973, p. 33)

^d Cited in Hegedüs (1953, p. 2)