

Erratum

Serial Immunological Testing in Patients with Gastric Cancer

Marek Zembala¹, Tadeusz Popiela², Danuta Kowalczyk¹, Bozena Mytar¹, Anna Pituch-Noworolska¹, Irena Ruggiero¹, Wojciech Uracz¹, Antoni Czupryna², and Henryk Łabza²

¹ Department of Clinical Immunology, Institute of Paediatrics, and

² First Department of Surgery, Copernicus Medical School, Cracow, Poland

J Cancer Res Clin Oncol (1986) 111: 62–70

On page 63 in the first paragraph of the left column instead of “...cannot be...”, the last sentence should read:

The determination of immune parameters is usually performed at the time of diagnosis and although this determination provides important information concerning the immunological status in a given stage, the clinical usefulness of the immune parameters can be assessed from serial testing.