IN MEMORY OF NIKOLAI ADRIANOVICH TALITSKIKH
(1898-1971)

The editorial staff and contributing authors of our journal have suffered a great loss with the passing away of Nikolai Adrianovich Talitskikh on May 3, 1971. A man of great will power and energy, broadminded and possessing great intuitive powers, he dedicated himself completely to his editorial work.

Nikolai Adrianovich took upon himself all the difficulties of the organizational work during the period of our journal's founding, and continued to devote much effort to it until his last days. Our authors knew well both his exactingness and his kindness. They attentively accepted his wise counsels based on his great experience in, and knowledge of, many fields of mechanics.

We mourn his passing deeply and will always treasure the memory of Nikolai Adrianovich.
