OBITUARY

ROGER GAL

It is with deep regret that the Unesco Institute for Education announces the death of Professor Roger Gal in June of this year. Professor Gal was Director of Research at the Institut Pédagogique National, Paris and held various other important offices in France, including membership of several committees for the reform of French education.

He was a member of the Governing Board of the Institute from the beginning, and served on the Standing Committee for many years. In addition, he was a member of the Editorial Board of the International Review of Education.

Professor Gal's contribution to the work of the Institute was always accompanied by a profound interest in education and its development in a rapidly changing society. His enthusiasm and dynamism exerted great influence in the planning of the Institute's activities. His work for the International Review of Education was carried out with the aim of promoting comparative studies, and he himself contributed by writing articles for the journal.

Professor Gal's faithful service in the interests of the Institute will long be remembered.
