Request for information: Bird records from Mallorca, Spain

Mallorca has been a popular bird-watching venue for European ornithologists for many years and various guides to the bird life of the island are now available.

In an attempt to gather together bird records, with a view to the possible publication of some form of report, bird-watchers visiting the island are requested to submit details of their observations, either from past visits or future trips.

The main collection and base for the records will be on the island and is being handled by Pat Watkinson, Apartado 72, Puerto Pollensa, Mallorca, Spain (telephone: 532540). Pat is well known to many of the birding visitors to the island for all her help and organisation and she would welcome a contact from any prospective visiting bird watcher.

Records, particularly past information, can be deposited with Bob Scott, c/o RSPB, The Lodge, Sandy, Beds., SG19 2DL, England, who will forward information to Mrs Watkinson.
