

BRITISH SECTION

Thanks to the kind assistance of British authorities both here and in Great Britain we are now able to open a British Section, which will bring our readers into direct contact with prominent representatives of British culture. In the near future it will be directed by British editors. We feel especially indebted to His Majesty's Ambassador to the Netherlands, Sir Nevile Bland, for his greatly appreciated kindness and for the fact that he contributed to our first issue an opening word, which testifies to a clear insight into the problems we are wishing to state. Our gratitude is also owing to the Representative for the Netherlands of the British Council, Mr. Brian W. Downs, who took an especially active part in the re-establishment of our post-war relations with the United Kingdom.
