This volume contains the proceedings of the National Congress of Neurosurgery held in Pavia in 1986. It is an intelligent and exhaustive update on topics of great interest such as cerebral aneurysms, diseases of the cervical spine, brain tumors of Childhood, cerebral ischemia, diseases of the sella turcica, the treatment of pain and the pharmacological treatment of brain tumors. Neurosurgical Nursing Association with topics of interest to the medical profession also, such as the prevention and management of nosocomial infections. The idea of combining the two events in a single volume is an excellent one and deserves to be imitated by other scientific societies with a common interest.
