

CORRIGENDUM

In my article, "From Union Hegemony to Union Disintegration: Collective Bargaining in Cement and Related Industries," published in the Fall, 1989 (Volume X, No. 4) issue of this journal, I stated that Thomas Miechur who succeeded Felix Jones as president of the United Cement, Lime & Gypsum Workers Union, was the son-in-law of Jones. This information was given to me by sources that I deemed authoritative and no exception was taken to it by those who read the manuscript and who were familiar with the industry and its bargaining history. Nevertheless, I am now advised that Miechur is not related to Jones and is certainly not his son-in-law. The error is very much regretted.
