

vincing you that they are worth a wider trial the work will not have been in vain.

Acknowledgments :

The clinical trials of the Barry preparations owe much to the hard work and clinical sense of Sister Cunningham, the leader of the special team of nurses in the Urological Department of the Meath Hospital. Drs. Mayne and Cussen gave their help freely, and Dr. Hickey kept a constant watch on the progress of these cases. Professor Jessop's biochemical work was of the utmost value. Without the very high standard of Dr. Conalty's bacteriological work, in certain aspects of which he had the assistance of Professor Bigger and of Professor Stewart, the study could not have been undertaken. My secretary, Miss McLaughlin, and Mrs. Gladys Morton, Mrs. Skinner and Miss Kirby were responsible for the records. I have many reasons for being grateful to Professor O'Meara, but perhaps he did me his greatest service when he put me in touch with Dr. Vincent Barry.
