ANNOUNCEMENT

Appointment of Obstetrical Anaesthesia
Professor for Academic Year
July 1, 1997 - June 30, 1998

The University of Toronto, Department of Anaesthesia and the Department of Anaesthesia at Women's College Hospital are pleased to announce the appointment of Dr. Barbara Leighton as the Visiting Professor in Obstetrical Anaesthesia. Dr. Leighton will join the Centre for Research in Women's Health at Women's College Hospital, devoting 60% of her time to clinical research in obstetrical pain management and serving as an important resource person to researchers and clinicians at Women's College Hospital and other teaching hospitals within the University of Toronto system.

Dr. Leighton is Associate Professor of Anaesthesiology and Director of the Section of Obstetrical Anaesthesia, Department of Anaesthesiology at Jefferson Medical College, Thomas Jefferson University in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Dr. Leighton was the President of the Society for Obstetric Anesthesia and Perinatology (SOAP) in 1994-95 and is currently the Chair of the Research Committee of SOAP. She has been active in clinical research in Obstetrical Anaesthesia for the past ten years and has published widely and has contributed in a major way to the development of Academic Obstetrical Anaesthesia in North America. Her current research interests include new techniques for Epidural Anaesthesia Test Doses, Temperature Maintenance under Regional Anaesthesia for C-section and Neuraxial Opioids and other Neuraxial Analgesics.

Dr. Leighton will be situated at the Maternal, Infant and Reproductive Health Research Unit, part of the Centre for Research in Women's Health. The Centre is a joint initiative of Women's College Hospital and the University of Toronto. It takes a broad approach to women's health research; the development of multidisciplinary research issues is a critical goal of the Centre. With this in mind, the Professorship in Obstetrical Anaesthesia will develop research linkages with the Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology in the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Toronto.
