Unfortunately, two entries were incorrect in Table 1. For case 6052 the correct ethnicity of the donor is African-American and not White and the C-peptide value is 0.06 nmol/l and not <0.02 nmol/l.

The authors are confident that these errors do not compromise the study design, analysis, interpretation or conclusions.

In the Acknowledgements it was incorrectly stated that M. Campbell-Thompson had left nPOD. The sentence should have read: 'We are grateful to nPOD for supplying pancreatic sections for this study and to M. Campbell-Thompson (nPOD) and S. Richardson (Peninsula School of Medicine, Plymouth, UK) for advice regarding antibodies and protocols.' Dr Richardson is currently based at the Institute of Biomedical and Clinical Sciences, University of Exeter, Exeter, UK.
