

J. Dankiewicz
N. Nielsen
M. Annborn
T. Cronberg
D. Erlinge
Y. Gasche
C. Hassager
J. Kjaergaard
T. Pellis
H. Friberg

Erratum to: Survival in patients without acute ST elevation after cardiac arrest and association with early coronary angiography: a post hoc analysis from the TTM trial

Published online: 24 April 2015
© Springer-Verlag Berlin Heidelberg and ESICM 2015

The online version of the original article can be found under doi:10.1007/s00134-015-3735-z.

J. Dankiewicz (✉) · M. Annborn · H. Friberg
Department of Intensive and Perioperative Care, Skåne University Hospital, Lund, Sweden e-mail: josef.dankiewicz@gmail.com

J. Dankiewicz · N. Nielsen · M. Annborn · T. Cronberg ·
D. Erlinge · H. Friberg
Department of Clinical Sciences, Lund University, Lund, Sweden

T. Cronberg
Department of Neurology, Skåne University Hospital,
Lund, Sweden

D. Erlinge
Department of Cardiology, Skåne University Hospital,
Lund, Sweden

Y. Gasche
Department of Intensive Care, Geneva University Hospital,
Geneva, Switzerland

C. Hassager · J. Kjaergaard
Department of Cardiology, The Heart Centre, Copenhagen
University Hospital (Rigshospitalet), Copenhagen, Denmark

T. Pellis
Emergency Medical Service, Anaesthesia and Intensive Care,
Santa Maria degli Angeli Hospital, Pordenone, Denmark

Erratum to: Intensive Care Med DOI 10.1007/s00134-015-3735-z

A typesetting error resulted in incorrect reporting of a 95 % confidence interval in the last paragraph of the Results section, headed “Additional analyses”. The correct value was -0.08 to 0.14 , so that the affected sentence should read:

“The average treatment effect on the treated was 0.03 (95 % CI -0.08 to 0.14 , standard error 0.056)”.