

James S. Meyer
William Mackenzie

Malignant bone tumors and limb-salvage surgery in children

Published online: 26 October 2004
© Springer-Verlag 2004

Pediatr Radiol (2004) 34:606–613

In this article, Fig. 1c was inadvertently printed twice, once in place of Fig. 3b. Here is the correct Fig. 3:

J. S. Meyer
Department of Medical Imaging,
A.I. duPont Hospital for Children,
Wilmington, DE, USA

J. S. Meyer (✉) · W. Mackenzie
Jefferson Medical College,
Philadelphia, PA, USA
E-mail: jsmeier@nemours.org
Tel.: +1-302-6514686
Fax: +1-302-6514626

W. Mackenzie
Department of Orthopaedics,
A.I. duPont Hospital for Children,
Wilmington, DE, USA

Fig. 3a, b Thirteen-year-old girl with juxtacortical osteosarcoma of distal femur. a AP radiograph shows ossified mass (arrow) at presentation. b AP radiograph following intercalary femoral allograft