

Symphysis pubis distance in adults: a retrospective computed tomography study

Banu Alicioglu · Ozcan Kartal · Hulya Gurbuz ·
Necdet Sut

Published online: 26 February 2008
© Springer-Verlag 2008

Erratum to: Surg Radiol Anat (2008) 30:153–157
DOI 10.1007/s00276-007-0295-0

The correlation coefficient between the posterior SP distances and age are expressed as follows:

The results section of the abstract in the first page third line:

$$(r = -0.150; P < 0.001)$$

In Table 2

$$r = -0.150, P < 0.001$$

The online version of the original article can be found under doi: 10.1007/s00276-007-0295-0.

B. Alicioglu (✉) · O. Kartal
School of Medicine, Department of Radiology,
Trakya University, 22030 Edirne, Turkey
e-mail: banualicioglu@trakya.edu.tr; banu_alici@yahoo.com

H. Gurbuz
Department of Anatomy, Faculty of Medicine,
Istanbul Bilim University, Istanbul, Turkey

N. Sut
Faculty of Medicine, Department of Biostatistics,
Trakya University, Edirne, Turkey