Dear Sir,

some time ago, Ferdinand Mühlbacher and I published “The history of organ transplantation in Austria” in European Surgery (2014) 46:65–73. Only recently we came to know that there is a mistake on page 71: The transplant that was performed on September 17, 1993 in Vienna was not an isolated but rather the first combined liver–bowel transplant in Austria (R. Steininger, personal communication).

The one performed in Innsbruck on November 21, 1994 was therefore the first isolated bowel transplant in the country.

Your sincerely,
 Raimund Margreiter and Ferdinand Mühlbacher
