This article has been corrected with the following revisions for errors unaddressed in the copy editing process. All of the revisions herein were technical in nature and did not substantively change any aspect of the content of the article, including main arguments and findings. The first author appreciates the understanding of the readers.

1. In the first subheading under Measures, “Bisexual Identity Interview” should be “Bisexual Identity Inventory.”
2. In the first sentence under Measures, “7-item” should be “7-point.”
3. In the third to the last sentence of the last paragraph under the Auxiliary Variables subsection under Procedure, “other two profiles” should be “other profiles.”
4. In the second sentence of the fourth paragraph under Results, the odds ratio of 2.06 should be 2.07 to reflect appropriate rounding to the hundredth decimal place.
5. Under the Ambivalent column in Table 4, three logit values should be modified to represent appropriate rounding to the hundredth decimal place.
  - a. In the first row, .31 should be .32.
  - b. In the second row, − 1.21 should be − 1.22.
  - c. In the fourth row, − .40 should be − .41.

6. In the last sentence of the third paragraph under Discussion, “they” should be “people in this profile.”
7. In the second to the last sentence of the fifth paragraph under Limitations and Future Directions, “dimension bisexual identity” should be “dimension of bisexual identity.”
