Continuing a decade-long trend, Journal submissions have increased steadily, year by year, from 740 in 2007 to 1,147 in 2019. Of the papers received by JADD last year, 462 were ultimately accepted – almost invariably following at least one revision. The associate editors and I were pleased to see the growth of scholarship on autism around the world; this past year authors from 73 countries submitted to the Journal. The downside of the increased number of submissions is that our standards are necessarily going to become stringent. With the increased number of submissions we are increasingly aware of the problem of ‘reviewer fatigue,’ and the associate editors and I are increasingly going to either reject papers without review or redirect them to a different Journal. Review articles are now routinely redirected to our companion Journal, Review Journal of Autism and Developmental Disorders, or elsewhere.

As in the past we strive to make the review process as efficient as possible. Once a paper has cleared the initial internal review for adherence to journal style, the average time from first submission to initial decision is just over 6 weeks. This reflects the diligence of the journal office in helping insure papers are ready for review and the responsiveness of our reviewers. Occasionally a paper on a complex or highly focused topic can require a lengthier review time; in these cases, the Journal appreciates authors’ patience in awaiting feedback.

It is important for authors to remember that once a paper has been accepted the pace of electronic publication (complete with a doi) is very rapid so it becomes even more important that submissions be in final form without error when they go out to review. The JADD office staff checks for some basic things like format before papers come to me for assignment but they cannot detect errors of scholarship – hopefully (but not always) these are noted in review. In about one-third of cases, authors are asked to make formatting corrections before they come to peer review. We also remind authors that duplicate publication is not allowed and authors certify this to us as part of the submission process along with ethical research conduct and so forth. Springer Nature is a member of COPE, the Committee on Publication Ethics, and the COPE guidelines are followed for all research integrity issues that come up in relation to JADD articles both under review and published.

The Journal continues to expand its editorial board and add Associate Editors as members rotate off. The Journal would like to extend a warm welcome to our newest Associate Editors: Cara Pugliese, Ph.D. and Shefali Spurling Jeste, M.D. We bid a fond farewell to the following board members: Nick Chown, Independent Researcher, Annilies de Bildt, Ph.D., Iliana Magiati, Ph.D., D.Clin.Psy., Nancy Minshew, M.D., Laura Morett, Ph.D., Matthew Mosconi, Ph.D., Deborah Riby, Ph.D., Susan White, Ph.D. Each has generously and diligently supported the Journal’s mission.

The Journal is deeply grateful for the continued dedication of the remaining Associate Editors: Alice S. Carter, Ph.D., Craig A. Erickson, M.D., Carla Mazefsky, Ph.D., Christopher J. McDougle, M.D., James C. McPartland, Ph.D., Patricia A. Prelock, Ph.D., Brian Reichow, Ph.D., Hanna Stevens, M.D., Ph.D., Gerrit Ian Van Schalkwyk, M.D., Giacomo Vivanti, Ph.D., and Marc Woodbury-Smith, PhD, MRCPsych.

We welcome new editorial board members including Yusuf Akemoglu, Ph.D., Angelica Marie Astor, Ph.D., Erin Nell Barry, M.A., Mark Brosnan, Ph.D., Alastir Craig Clarkson, MSc, Daniel Dunleavy, MSW, Ph.D., Rebecca Elias, Ph.D., Erin Kang, M.A., Mr. Kenneth Larsen, Rachel Loftin, Ph.D., Michael J. Morrier, Ph.D., BCBA-D, and Luigi Mazzone, M.D., Anders Nordahl-Hansen, Ph.D., Justin Rowberry, M.D., Jennifer Lawson Stapel-Wax, PsyD, and Rutger Jan van der Gaag, M.D., Ph.D.

The associate editors, office staff and I also extend our very best wishes and many thanks to Judy Jones and Michelle Tam for all their hard work and support over the years and we welcome Jennifer Hadley as Senior Editor and Paola Yuli as Editorial Assistant.

We continue to encourage authors to use the option of online publication of supplementary material as “Extra Supplementary Material” (ESM). As noted in previous editorials, JADD typically does not accept review papers, which are typically referred to Springer’s companion journal, the Review Journal of Autism and Developmental Disorders; however, the Journal continues to be interested in meta-analyses. In addition, JADD accepts case report submissions only in the form of letters to the editor; case studies may be submitted as standard “original research” papers.

The Journal continues to encourage, when possible, the grouping of papers on related topics in special issues/sections. We currently have three of these now in preparation – one on early detection, another on suicidality and self-harm, and one looking at progress in autism work in a range of areas 40 years after the publication of DSM-III. Consistent with Journal policy, all papers submitted to special sections/issues are subject to the standard double-blinded peer-review process as other papers.

In the Journal office, Lori Klein, Editorial Manager, and Monica Mleczek, Editorial Assistant, work diligently to ensure that every submission conforms to JADD standards before it enters peer review, thereby streamlining the process for the Editor and Associate Editors.

Listed in the following section are the names of the individuals who have contributed one or more reviews to the Journal this year. Although far from perfect, peer review remains the most effective way for the field to ensure the quality of the scholarly product. JADD thanks these individuals for their hard work and dedication.
