The original version of this manuscript contained an error in the reference for our general life events measure. General life events were assessed using the Life Events and Circumstances Checklist (LEC; Work, Cowen, Parker & Wyman, 1990) rather than the Coddington Life Events

Scale (CLES; Coddington, 1972). A corrected description of the measure is provided below.

Number of general life events were assessed using the Life Events and Circumstances Checklist (LEC; Work, Cowen, Parker & Wyman, 1990). The LEC is a self-report measure that asks participants to indicate whether they have experienced certain life events during the past six months (e.g., death of a family member, illness that required hospitalization).
