Dear Colleagues,

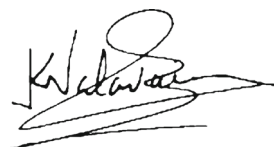

As we approach the end of the calendar year our efforts focus on printing accepted papers that have been in the queue for quite sometime now. We will exceed our page quota for the year, but so be it! Our goal is to serve our readers, do justice and deliver on the promise to reduce the whole cycle from submission to printing. We will keep on working trying to optimize this process even more.

In the mean time, I am happy to report that we will keep the same quota for 2015, which guarantees that accepted papers will appear within one year or less from first submission – we want to come down to about nine months, though.

Last, but not least, the Editorial Board will also be enhanced in 2015. If you have recommendations, please forward names to me for consideration.

Enjoy the issue.
