Dear Colleagues:

This second issue of 2016 is a combination of Special Issue papers and regular, contributed papers, all peer reviewed. As always, we aim at publishing papers of the highest quality without following any quotas or preset percentages. We believe that this commitment is reflected in each published issue you receive.

With respect to ‘looking ahead’ or ‘planning ahead’, I would like to bring to the table for consideration the following: how about giving the JINT cover page a fresh look? I have thought about it for quite some time now. I believe we need to keep our ‘identity’, our main colors and layout, but maybe update the (some of the) pictures to reflect the most recent developments in the thematic areas JINT publishes.

As such, I am open to comments, your thoughts, even recommendations for updated pictures, photos that enhance our unique identity. Please do not hesitate to reach out to me with your comments.

In the meantime, enjoy the issue and do not forget to submit your paper.
