

New data on the Indus Kohistan seismic zone and its extension into the Hazara-Kashmir Syntaxis, NW Himalayas of Pakistan

MonaLisa · Azam A. Khwaja · M. Qasim Jan ·
Robert S. Yeats · Ahmad Hussain ·
Shahid A. Khan

Published online: 5 October 2008
© Springer Science + Business Media B.V. 2008

Erratum to: J Seismol
DOI 10.1007/s10950-008-9117-z

Unfortunately, the parts “g” and “h” of Fig. 7 were missed by mistake.

The online version of the original article can be found under doi:10.1007/s10950-008-9117-z.

MonaLisa (✉) · M. Q. Jan
Department of Earth Sciences,
Quaid-i-Azam University, Islamabad, Pakistan
e-mail: lisa_qau@yahoo.com

A. A. Khwaja
Higher Education Commission Pakistan,
Islamabad, Pakistan

R. S. Yeats
Geosciences, Oregon State University and Earth
Consultants International, Corvallis, OR, USA

A. Hussain
Geological Survey of Pakistan, Peshawar, Pakistan

S. A. Khan
Centre for Earthquake Studies, Islamabad, Pakistan

Fig. 7 Landslides (a–e; courtesy of National Engineering Services Pakistan) and destruction (f–h) in Muzaffarabad and Balakot