

Erratum to: Relation between clopidogrel active metabolite levels and different platelet aggregation methods in patients receiving clopidogrel and aspirin

Yan Liang · Marilyn Johnston · Jack Hirsh · Guillaume Pare ·
Chunjian Li · Shamir Mehta · Koon K. Teo · Debi Sloane ·
Qilong Yi · Jun Zhu · John W. Eikelboom

Published online: 14 October 2012
© Springer Science+Business Media New York 2012

Erratum to: J Thromb Thrombolysis
DOI 10.1007/s11239-012-0762-2

The revised version of “Acknowledgment” section is presented in this erratum.

Acknowledgments The study was supported by an unrestricted grant from Sanofi-Aventis and Bristol-Myers

Squibb. Clopidogrel AM assays were performed by Fabrice Hurbin, Sanofi-Aventis, Montpellier, France. Multiple electrode aggregometry (MEA) assays were provided by Dynabyte Medical, Munich, Germany. We thank P. Riley from Diagnostica Stago (Parsippany, NJ) for providing platelet VASP/P2Y12 kits.

---

The online version of the original article can be found under doi:10.1007/s11239-012-0762-2.

---

Y. Liang (✉) · J. Zhu
Cardiovascular Institute and Fuwai Hospital, Chinese Academy of Medical Sciences and Peking Union Medical College, Beijing 100037, China
e-mail: fwliangyan@yahoo.com.cn

Y. Liang · G. Pare · S. Mehta · K. K. Teo · D. Sloane ·
J. W. Eikelboom
Population Health Research Institute (PHRI), McMaster University/Hamilton Health Sciences, Hamilton, ON, Canada

M. Johnston
Hemostasis Reference Laboratory, Henderson Research Centre, Hamilton, ON, Canada

J. Hirsh
Department of Medicine, Henderson Research Centre, McMaster University, Hamilton, ON, Canada

C. Li
Department of Cardiology, First Affiliated Hospital of Nanjing Medical University, Nanjing, China

Q. Yi
Department of Epidemiology and Surveillance, Canadian Blood Services, Ottawa, ON, Canada