“Who are your Friends?” Complexities in Multicultural Education

Shira Eve Epstein

Published online: 17 June 2009
© Springer Science+Business Media, LLC 2009

Erratum to: Urban Rev DOI 10.1007/s11256-008-0118-6

The first sentence under the heading, “Introduction to Beyond Today and Multicultural Education” should read as follows:

Beyond Today gathers students from de facto segregated neighborhoods to promote their critical awareness of discrimination, inequality, and the importance of social change. This vision is revealed in the opening pages of the organization’s curriculum guide.

The online version of the original article can be found under doi:10.1007/s11256-008-0118-6.

S. E. Epstein (✉)
The City College of New York (CUNY), New York City, NY, USA
e-mail: sepstein@ccny.cuny.edu