Appreciation to Reviewers

With this issue, the Journal of Behavioral Health Services & Research (JBHS&R) concludes its 47th year of publication. I am very grateful to all of the authors, reviewers, and JBHS&R Editorial Board members for their exceptional contributions to this peer-reviewed publication, particularly during this COVID-19 pandemic.

Editing and publishing a scholarly peer-reviewed journal is an amazing as well as complex exertion that involves working with a critical mass of fascinating, highly creative, well-educated, and very productive assemblage of superb individuals. Certainly, the JBHS&R could not exist without the manuscript authors, the JBHS&R Editorial Board members, and the Ad Hoc External Manuscript Reviewers.

At this time, I would like to recognize and express my profound appreciation to the many individuals who continue to support this scholarly publishing initiative: Mr. Chuck Ingoglia, Mr. Neal Comstock, and Ms. Mary Johnson at the National Council for Behavioral Health; Ms. Katherine Chabalko, Mr. Bob Darnowsky, Mr. Arene Ligo, Mr. Genesis Obero, Ms. Paola Yuli, and Ms. Sara Yanny-Tillar at Springer publishing; Dr. Mario Hernandez and Ms. Sarah Sheffield at the University of South Florida; and the academic and institutional libraries who have electronic access to the JBHS&R.

This scholarly publication is committed to publishing applied services research, services delivery, policy, and implementation sciences manuscripts in behavioral health (including alcohol, drug abuse, and mental health) services. The ability to improve the quality of the manuscripts published in the JBHS&R is largely dependent upon the strength of the double-blind peer-review process. Manuscript referees provide the JBHS&R with an immeasurable wealth of expertise and willingness to volunteer their time and vivacity on behalf of the JBHS&R. Therefore, I especially would like to thank and express my deepest appreciation to the individuals listed below, all of whom devotedly reviewed at least one manuscript submitted to the JBHS&R during 2019–2020.
